

From a war torn and starving country to the soil that breathes of Leatherstocking and Chingachgook. The seven Russian children adopted by Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully at Camp Fenimore, on the shore of Lake Otsego, near Cooperstown, N. Y., where they are spending the summer in the care of Mrs. Clifford Arthur Braider. Left to right: Nickolai, Ninitchka, Fedor, Tonitchka, Nina, Ludmila and Lassia.

Underwood & Underwood.

The final of the 100 yard hurdle race in the women's international track meet at Pershing Stadium in Paris. Miss Camelia Sabie of the American team, the winner, is shown second from right.

Wide World.

Funeral of Viscount Northcliffe. The solemn scene in Westminster Abbey, showing the casket covered with a pall rich in heraldic embroidery and some of the mourners, in which all classes were represented.

Pictorial Press.

The last photo of Michael Collins, made on the occasion of his appearance at the funeral of Arthur Griffith, where, as Commander in Chief of the Irish Free State army, he was one of the chief mourners. New York Herald Foreign Photo.

Carrying the body of Arthur Griffith, President of the Irish Free State, from the Pro-Cathedral, Dublin, after the funeral services. Michael Collins, who later was killed from ambush by a party of irregular troops, is shown, in uniform, serving as a pallbearer.

New York Herald Foreign Photo